About the exhibition

The Croatian Photographic Union is organizing an international photography exhibition of young authors „International Heritage Photographic Experience 2019.“.

The exhibition is conceived as a result of the competition with a topic cultural and natural heritage, open to all young people up to 30 years of age.

The intention is to encourage as many young people to understand, to explore and to register cultural and natural heritage (historic buildings, industrial architecture, landscapes, vernacular architecture, traditional crafts, festivals and traditions...), and to show, through the exhibition and the catalogue, the common dimension of the young people's from different countries attitude towards heritage. The exhibition will be organized in the exhibition space of the Archaeological Museum in Zagreb and then in a dozen different cities in Croatia.
